

I am really enjoying not being constantly called by solicitors. I think it's rather ridiculous that you cannot have peace in your own home without signing up to be on a special list. I think it should be handled in reverse: if you want solicitors to call, sign up on the list; otherwise, only receive calls from those you are expecting them from. We are paying to have phone service. If this service was free, maybe I'd understand the need to pay for the infrastructure would be though telemarketing efforts. However, since we pay, I think we should have the right to determine who gets to know our phone numbers and who is allowed to call them.